

NORTHERN BLAZING STAR

(Liatris scariosa)

NORTHWEST MICHIGAN
INVASIVE SPECIES NETWORK

Protecting, enhancing, and promoting Northwest Michigan's natural communities through terrestrial invasive plant management and outreach.

S Buffler

Is northern blazing star right for your garden?

18 inches tall

Aug-Sept

To learn more about how you can help protect our wild places, visit HabitatMatters.org

Key Features:

Paul Rokicki

Flowers

Perennial wildflower. Fluffy, thistle-like purple flowers. Inflorescences bloom from bottom to top.

Chris Garrock

Adaptable

Can adapt to full or partial sun, moist or mesic conditions, and soil with loam, sand or gravel.

John Hilty

Visitors to Explore

Nectar and pollen attract butterflies and skippers. Monarch butterflies are particularly attracted.