

NEW ENGLAND ASTER

(Symphotrichum novae-angliae)

NORTHWEST MICHIGAN
INVASIVE SPECIES NETWORK

Protecting, enhancing, and promoting Northwest Michigan's natural communities through terrestrial invasive plant management and outreach.

John Beetham

Is New England aster right for your garden?

3-6 ft tall
2-3 ft wide

Sept.-Oct.

To learn more about how you can help protect our wild places, visit HabitatMatters.org

Key Features:

G.T. Conservation District

Rain Garden

Beautiful addition to any rain garden. Rain gardens help keep run-off and pollution out of natural areas.

istock

Beautiful Flowers

Late season blooms provide critical food resources for pollinators, like this syrphid fly.

Bruce Marlin

Visitors to Explore

Hosts butterflies like the silvery checkerspot and pearl crescent. Attracts native pollinators like this halictid bee.